Wheat, Old Corn, and Maryland Tobacco,

PURCHASED BY
Oct 4 LAWRASON & FOWLE.

Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that it may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of those banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown,
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 28th day of May, 1819.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1819.

We are indebted to a gentleman of this place for permission to lay before our readers a copy of the following letter received by him from an officer, on board the U. S. ship Ontario, a native of this place. This letter will we doubt not be read with interest by every one: it is replete with good sense, and evinces that the writer, who left this place an inexperienced youth a few years ago, has made good use of his time. His example is worthy of imitation.

Copy of a letter from an officer on board the U S. ship Ontario, to his friend in this place, dated U. S. ship Ontario, Annapolis, April 25th, 1819.

"Once more, my dear sir, I have safely returned to "the land of the free, and the home of the brave."

Nineteen months have rapidly passed away since I took leave of my dear country for a cruize in the Pacific ocean. When I look back it appears as but a day—yet during that day I have sailed in all my zigzag rambles over nearly fifty thousand miles of old Neptune's empire. The many strange places I have seen, and the great variety of interesting objects presented to the eye may in some degree account for the apparent rapidity of old Time's flight—but it is nevertheless a melancholy truth, that as our years increase in number, they seem greatly to decrease in length.

I wished very much for an opportunity to write you from the Pacific, but met with none that presented a reasonable prospect of your ever getting the letter—I could there have given you much interesting news if you feel, as I presume every American does, interested in the great cause now pending in South America.

The period of our arrival in Chili was perhaps the most eventful one in the history of that country since the conquest—but as you have long since been made acquainted, through the medium of newspapers, with the important occurrences of that day, I shall not here trouble you with a repetition of them, but, pursuing the intention with which I sat down, shall proceed to give you a sketch of the movements of the Ontario during her absence from the United States. In doing so I shall make, principally, plain extracts from my journal—and avoid as much as possible entering into particulars, which would perhaps tire more than amuse you. I must here, however, observe, that should you feel no relish for the dry remarks of a sailor's journal, the papers are in your hands and may easily be committed to the flames.

The first port we put into was Rio Janeiro (Brazil) where we spent but ten days refitting, &c. &c. Thence directed our course towards Cape Horn—we passed that dreadful point of terrors about the 1st of January, 1818. I have never been in a clime so boisterous and disagreeable as that about the Cape—rains and storms prevail almost incessantly—the sea rolling in mountain waves; your trembling bark one moment soars among the clouds, and the next sinks swiftly between the foaming billows as if never to rise again.

It was midsummer when we passed it, and consequently we had almost continual day-light—the sun making but a small sweep below the horizon, where he remained only five hours and a half, left us a twilight in his absence, which, had the weather been clear, would have been equal to the full moon.—The weather was not so cold as we had expected to find it, even at that season, in so high a latitude as 60 degrees south—the mercury stood at from 40 to 45 degrees of Farenheit's thermometer. After buffeting the storms for fifty five days, during which we lost one man overboard, and carried away some of our light spars, we cast anchor in the bay of Valparaiso, (Chili.)

Valparaiso is a small, ill contrived, dirty town, stuck against the side of a red clay hill that scarce affords herbage for a goat. The houses are generally very small, meanly built, with brick floors and tile roofs—its population is from four to five thousand souls—they are very easy in their manners and hospitable to strangers. After a stay there of six weeks we sailed for Lima (Peru) where we arrived in twelve days—we gave the vice king of Peru the first information of the defeat of his army at the famous battle of Maypo, which so humbled the haughty Castilian that he not only received us with a degree of respect which he is not in the habit of paying foreigners, but, at the request of Capt. B. he gave us an order addressed to the Commodore of his squadron, off Valparaiso, to permit all the American merchant vessels then in that port to proceed to sea without interruption. This very important order rendered it necessary for the Ontario to return immediately to Valparaiso, as there were five valuable vessels then preparing to sail for China. Capt. B. consented to take on board a commissioner from the vice king, to negociate with the Chili government for an exchange of prisoners, and to act himself in the capacity of mediator. On our return to Valparaiso, I had the pleasure to accompany those gentlemen to Santiago, (the capital, about one hundred miles in the interior.) On our arrival in the suburbs we were met by an officer of distinction at the head of a corps of dragoons, which paid Capt. B. military honors and escorted us to quarters that had been prepared for Capt. B. and most splendidly fitted up by order of the Supreme director—during our stay there, our table was every day supplied in the most sumptuous manner—the richest wines, fruits and delicacies of every description were crowded upon it in the greatest profusion—in short, every respect and attention was paid us, and we were suffered to be at no expense whatever. In consideration, I suppose, of this, the servants, who were also government property, felt themselves at liberty to purloin every thing they could lay their hands on, and they certainly availed themselves of every opportunity to exercise that right—one of the soldiers of the guard of honor that escorted us back to the port, stole my sword, epaulette and chapeau de bras which had been given him to carry.

Santiago is a handsome, regular and well built city—has from thirty to forty thousand inhabitants—it has several very rich churches, and some other elegant public buildings, particularly a mint, which, I think, is not surpassed, if equalled, by any building on the whole continent of America; it is four hundred and eighty feet in front, two stories high, and every way large in due proportion, and is built of a very fine white free stone. We spent six days in the city—no arrangement for exchange of prisoners could be agreed on. On our return to the port we immediately put to sea for the river Columbia, (N. W. coast) touching at Lima to land the Spanish commissioner. On the 19th August we anchored off the entrance of that river. The bar being too intricate and dangerous for a vessel of the Ontario's draft of water to pass in, we manned three boats with fifty well armed seamen and rowed up the river to the establishment founded there by a Mr. Astor, of New-York, but then in the possession of the British N. W. company,—you may recollect that this post was taken from Mr. Astor during the late war with England; by the treaty of Ghent it must be restored to us, and I understand it has been actually given up, since we left there to the United States' agent appointed to receive it. It is situated on what is called point George, about 18 miles from the entrance of the river; consists of one large frame house, five or six small ones, some store houses, shops, &c. Around the whole is a strong high picket to protect them from the Indians, who are sometimes disposed to be troublesome. Twenty five whites, the same number of Sandwich Islanders, with three six pounders, constitutes the whole force of the settlement. Captain Biddle was not authorized by his instructions to haul down the English flag and place in its stead the American stripes; we however took formal possession of the country on both sides the river, in the name and on the behalf of the United States, with all the ceremony usual on such occasions.—We passed the night uncomfortable enough in our boats, which we anchored near an Indian village. The Indians came amongst us in considerable numbers with great familiarity, were very merry and friendly, offering us their dried salmon to eat. Their first inquiries were whether we were king Georges' men or Boston men; on being told Boston men, they repeated several times "Boston men Klosh" which signifies good; so you see they understand at least one part of the policy of civilized nations. The greater part of the men were entirely naked, and the women were as little covered as the most relaxed laws of decency would admit of. They have, in common, flat heads and distorted features; the latter is no doubt, caused by the operation of flattening the head, which is done by confining it, in infancy, between two boards, and keeping it in that situation till, as the head grows, it assumes the admired form. Take them "all in all" they are, in my opinion, the most ill-looking, dirty, disgusting objects of the human race, and I hope never to "look upon their like again."

The country as far as we could see, bears no signs of cultivation. The natives live by fishing and hunting. The English raise some cattle, and receive flour and salt provisions twice a year from Canada by way of Cape Horn.

On the morning of the 20th, the sea broke so heavy on the bar, that we were all very near being drowned in attempting to get on board our ship. I think I never was so near the verge of eternity before; for my boat, in which there was twenty men, was half full of water when I got alongside. We however got all safe on board, weighed our anchor and under a press of sail stood away to the southward five days after we came to an anchor in the bay of Montery, (California.)—The Spaniards have there a small fortress, with a garrison perhaps of fifty men; who are placed there, they say, entirely for the protection of some two or three religious missions established in the vicinity for the purpose of converting the wild children of the forest to the catholic faith—but I am inclined to think that their object is not quite so humane and disinterested as they would wish one to believe; for where mild persuasion, (which is, I think, the only weapon that should ever be used in such cases) fails to effect their purpose, they do not hesitate to use the most arbitrary and unfeeling means to accomplish it; as an evidence of this I mention the following circumstance. Rambling in the woods one day with a gun in search of patridges (which by the by are there very plenty) I fell in with two Indians who were employed cutting wood, with each a heavy pair of irons on his legs; I asked them in Spanish (for you must know I have learnt to make myself understood in that language) why they were in irons; they said they had attempted to run away and return to their nation in the interior, and were caught and shackled as I saw. I advised them to beat off their disgraceful fetters with their axe, and shewed them how it might be done; they looked so significantly at each other, that I am convinced they had never thought of such a thing before, but I have no doubt they very soon followed my advice.

As the Spanish force is much too small to cope with the Indians in the field, they have adopted the following singular stratagem to keep them under, which has had so far, the desired effect. The priests collect all the young females and put them into a strong building erected for that purpose, where they are taught to spin, weave, sew, &c. They are strictly guarded and never suffered to leave their prison, until the holy father gives them away in marriage, at which time he always stipulates for the female children that may make their appearance on the stage of life. By thus keeping the women in their power, the men are restrained from acts of violence.

As Monterey and Virginia lay in the same parallel of latitude, the climate and productions of course ought not to be very different; wheat, and all the fruits of Virginia are there in the highest perfection. We remained but a few days to refresh ourselves, lay in a supply of wood, water, &c. and on the 23d of October, anchored for the third time in the harbor of Lima.

If you do not expect a particular description of Lima, I shall be glad of it, for you will not then be disappointed, when you see how briefly I pass it over. You may remember that it was founded by the famous Pizarro, who built himself a great palace and was murdered in it by a gang of conspirators. It is situated two leagues from the sea in a beautiful vale called the Rinac, on the bank of a river of the same name; is surrounded by a wall 20 feet high; has about 65 thousand inhabitants, of whom there may be 20 thousand whites; is crowded with public buildings, among which are upwards of 40 churches, all immensely rich, in every one may be seen at least one Virgin Mary, with a crown upon her head of pure gold ornamented with the richest gems. Large columns supporting images, tables, candle sticks, and various other affairs, all of massy silver may be seen in any of them. There is, as you may suppose, no want of monasteries, convents and nunneries, and if you like you may go and make love through their iron grates to a pretty nun at noon day. The women are generally handsome, but so extremely ignorant, that their first inquiries were almost always about the fashions in London, believing that all who speak English must of course belong to that place. They are utterly without modesty in either manners or conversation. * * * * * * * * * *

I will here then do the Limanians the justice to say that they are polite and hospitable to strangers, at least they were so to us, though it is very evident that they have no love for the North Americans, for viewing them as republicans, they naturally consider them as decided friends to the patriot cause; (had we been more so than we have, we should have been more respected by both parties.) We were suffered to live at no expense in their city; were lodged and handsomely entertained in the first private families, and always invited to the Vice King's Dinners.

You must observe, that, so far, I have spoken of their private character only.—The Government must be viewed in a very different light. There is no law for any but officers and soldiers;—a plain coat seldom finds its way through the Vice King's guards, and if on a foreigner's back, never without large bribes.—Force alone is respected—nothing but a display of force can obtain justice. Ours was not very formidable 'tis true—but sir, they are no strangers to the fame of the American Navy, and no doubt concluded that the wind that brought us there, might waft a bigger ship to their view; we hinted that we expected a Line of Battle Ship in the Pacific,—for certain it is, that the little Ontario was looked upon with a great deal more respect than contempt, and the demands of her commander promptly attended to. We found two of our Merchant vessels there that had been captured and condemned some months before, for having on board some contraband articles, supposed to be for the Patriots of Chili;—they were valued together at near seven hundred thousand dollars;—their commanders had been for some time petitioning for a new trial, but with very little hopes of success when we arrived—At capt B's request a new trial was ordered, the former decision was reversed, and the vessels restored to their commanders. There were about forty American seamen confined in the prison of Lima; on the demand of Capt. B. they were all given up to us, though many of them had been taken in arms against the King of Spain.

Having accomplished the different objects of our visit to Lima in their fullest extent, we took a last farewell of that place, and shaped our course for Valparaiso. On our passage we passed close aboard the celebrated Island of Robinson Crusoe, (alias Juan Fernandes) I thought of old Robinson and his man Friday, and felt a strong desire to land and search for the spot where his hut stood; but a fresh and favoring gale soon put an end to that idea by carrying us in view of the coast of Chili.

We found on our arrival in the Bay of Valparaiso a patriot squadron of one ship of 64 guns, two of 44 (one of which had lately been captured together with five transports, part of an expedition sent out from Spain to reinforce the Vice Roy of Peru) one of 22 guns, and two or three smaller vessels, all under command of the English Lord Cochrane, as high Admiral * * * * *

The squadron and several transports were fitting out for an expedition against Lima; they have probably made the attack before this, and if they have managed decently they no doubt, have been successful; as they would certainly be joined by all the coloured people at any rate, which compose at least two thirds the population—and the Vice Roy has not more than seven thousand soldiers, many of whom cannot safely be relied on. San Martin, the Patriot General is a deep scheming fellow, and I think a very great scoundrel, and am of opinion if he takes Lima he will establish himself there, with what title he pleases, and poor Chili may whistle for her ships and soldiers, and protect herself as well as she can against her old friends the Spaniards. Time, they say, shews all things.

I feel really half inclined to tell you a long story about Chili, its climate, productions, inhabitants, &c. &c. and believe I could do so without mentioning a single circumstance that was uninteresting to myself; but I dare not in conscience trespass so long on your time, which may be much better employed in almost any other way than reading these dull sheets—besides if you have any curiosity that way, Molina's History of Chili will satisfy it much more to your hearts content than I can.

We stayed in Valparaiso only long enough to take in supplies of provisions, wood, water, &c. and repassed Cape Horn in January with rather more pleasant weather than before. After a passage of fifty five days, we again anchored in the port of Rio Janeiro—as I wrote you from that place on our passage out, I shall trouble you with no farther account of it. There were, in Rio, from fifteen to twenty American merchant vessels, making most dismal voyages; the market so glutted with wheat and flour that they were actually selling their cargoes below first cost, and glad to get any thing near it.

On our passage along the coast of Brazil, we touched at the city of Pernambuco—crossed the Equinoctial line for the fourth time, April 1, and on the 21st inst. the blue hills of Columbia once more reared their lofty summits above the watery waste. I now ride safe at anchor in my native land, and when I take a retrospective view of all the different countries I have seen in this and former voyages, my own stands so exalted by the comparison, that while life lasts I shall continue to say to it in the words of a poet,

Where e'er I go, whatever realms I see,
My heart untravelled still shall turn to thee."

To the Editor of the Federal Gazette.

I troubled you some short time since with a letter from my personal friend at Algesiras; I send a copy of another just received, and will thank you to give it publicity. Comment from me is unnecessary.

Yours, &c. Y. Z.

Algesiras, 12th April, 1819.

My Dear Friend,

I wrote you in January last via Gibraltar advising of my having been captured by a privateer under the Algerine flag, but in truth owned and fitted out here, where my ship was ordered to, and that after the Junto had decreed, the restoration of my property, he thought proper to change his mind and place me, if possible, in a worse situation than ever. It is impracticable for me to give you a concise idea of the sad abuses of justice here. Every man is ready to acknowledge his consciousness of the privateer having been fitted, re-fitted and armed here, and that she has been committing base depredations upon the flags and commerce of nations in amity with this government; but yet, I cannot procure that justice, they profess to possess such a stock of.

The Juiz sells me—tells los doce jurados these are outrageous proceedings—that right must be administered to these injured men—mounts the bench with great gravity, frowning dreadfully at the bare recollection of such acts; but what is the result? Why, in any contest of law, the decision is sure to be made in favor of the captors. Meanwhile expenses are incurring until the whole will be frittered down to nothing. To add to my grievances, this sage and impartial administrator of justice, determined a short time since, in order to gratify my plunderers, that a sale of my property which I had always hoped to have borne hence, should take place, and I had not only the mortification to witness my hard earnings under the hammer of the Pregonero en las almonedas, but the double distress of finding the purchasers, after having made way with the property refusing to pay for it, and their securities making Bunk route.

Thus you see, what was left from the rapine of the sea depredators, is not likely to fare much better from the pure and honest subjects of his catholic majesty on shore. How different would be the situation of these freebooters had it been their fortune to have been captured under a friendly flag and carried into the United States! How would the judge's heart have panted to redress their wrongs and punish the aggressors! How would juries have rejoiced to add their voice to the termination of such immoral scenes! And how, oh how would every member of society, frown upon the culprit who should be guilty of such acts of violence and outrage.

I apprehend you will find your friend returned, poor and penniless—the victim of sea and land robbers.

The markets here offer as little encouragement as the courts. With my cordial regard to Mrs. ——,

I am, &c. —— ——.

We received last evening French papers to the 18th of April, by the ship Louisa, from Havre. [N. York Evening Post.

Paris, April 16.

It appears that the petition of the merchants for removing the obstacles to the navigation of the Seine, and for establishing Paris as an entrepot, which has now become a manufacturing city, has been most favorably received by the minister of the interior.

A frightful event signalized the day before yesterday. Two individuals, animated with the most invetenate hatred to one another, went to the Boulevard St. Hilaire, near the Barriere de L'octroi. They were without witnesses, (Would they ever have found any?) Their swords are crossed—already both are wounded:—one of them wishes to desist—the other refuses to break off. The weapons again are crossed. He who showed such a ferocious obstinacy, falls dead on the spot. We do not wish to announce the names of these individuals—scarcely do we dare to say they were brothers!

The royal yatch which, in 1688, carried William 3d from Holland to England, is now a Newcastle collier, and is called the Betsey Caines. She is of consequence 131 years old, and might afford a fruitful and profitable subject of enquiry, as to the causes of her durability.

Monsieur (Count D'Artois) went through the ceremony of washing the feet in the Hall of Diana, in presence of the King, of Messieurs the Dukes D'Angouleme and Berri, of Madame the Duchess of Angouleme, the Duke of Bourbon, and a great number of spectators. The ceremony lasted from ten to twelve!!! This is an imitation of our Saviour's act to the Apostles.

Rome, March 31.

A second earthquake was felt in this capital the 26th of last month. The shock, which was from S. E. to N. E. was more sensible at Frascate and Albano. It did however no harm.

Mr. Russel, minister of the U. S. near the court of Stockholm, and Mr. Mordornoff, a Russian Admiral, arrived here a few days since.

RAPID TRAVELLING.

A number of persons who left Norfolk, (Vir.) on Monday morning, (May 31,) at a quarter past 9 o'clock, in steam-boat Virginia, by way of Baltimore and Philadelphia, arrived in this city in the Citizen's Post Coach at half past 4 in the afternoon of Wednesday, (the second of June,) the distance being 400 miles. If any of these passengers were bound up the North River they were here in season to take the steamboat for Albany. which started at 5 P. M. and will probably be at Albany, by 12 to morrow—160 miles further, this, astonishing as it may seem, might be accomplished without loss of sleep and almost without fatigue. [New-York, Daily Adv.

Lectures

ON THE RUNNING HAND,

Price 3 dollars for seven lectures, each two hours at the Writing Room, next door to the Marshall's Offie, Washington street.

IMMEDIATELY after a former advertisement, I engaged a sufficient number of scholars, and have since refused the applications of many, because they applied too late to go through the whole course of writing on the different Hands. But to meet the wishes of many, I propose to give lectures on the Running Hand only during the remaining ten days that my engagements elsewhere permit me to continue in this place. And notwithstanding, the statement may appear extravagant and even impossible to many who know nothing about it, yet is a fact that not only in 12 or 14 hours, but even in 4 hours, I will produce a change in a person's writing from a cramped, slow, slovenly hand to an easy, free, neat running hand, entirely different from the former one. Those who please may try the experiment. Besides acquiring the running hand perfectly and permanently, each gentleman will be taught the true method of making, holding the pen, sitting at the writing desk, &c. Specimens of the running hand acquired in a few hours may be seen at the writing room.

ALSO FOR SALE, AS ABOVE,

The Self-taught Penman,

in thirty lessons, a new and extremely easy system of Penmanship, explaining itself—Price 50 cents. Young ladies and others by devoting their attention to this system, during their leisure hours at home, may acquire a good hand writing the handsomest and most useful accomplishment of an English education.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.
S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.
N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.
S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

100 Dollars Reward.

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.
He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.
He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.
Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.
The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of his flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

ROMULUS RIGGS,
AT his office, next doo below Crawford's tavern. Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18
